

Category:In-App Purchasing

This category is for articles that explain how to include enable additional functionality in your apps at run-time using In-app purchasing. There is more information about this topic in the static site section Providing business models for developers, which includes links to the inneractive in-app advertising solution for Qt, QML and Java.